

Introduction

Correct labelling simplifies tracking action in inventory control. It will streamline reordering and restocking. With clear labeling, it's easier to read stock information and identify items that need to be controlled.

How to perform stock labelling with AGen software?

AGen offer you a table view listing where you just need to select the item you want to print out the label and do the printing. For the item listing, AGen will try to connect and retrieve the information from your existing ERP system. Users just select and print out the identity label from the label printer and stick on the product.

We do offer product information updating and image capturing solutions for the warehouse to input the detailed product information.
