

4 Step to assist you to complete your product serial number or batch number tracking

Introduction

The process flow for printing product label stickers with serial numbers involves designing the label, generating unique serial numbers, selecting materials, printing with variable data integration, finishing with peeling and sticking, and ensuring quality control before winding and packaging for application. By using AGen software, the printing and recording process is done in 1 process.

4 Step to assist you to complete your product serial number or batch number tracking.

Step 1 - Select records from computer link from excel.

Step 2 - Print the label from the barcode printer.

Step 3 - Peel off and stick on the product.

Step 4 - Scan with barcode scanner to check the information.

Summaries

Design the label with auto generate unique serial numbers or batch number, select materials, print with variable data integration, finish with peel and stick, ensure quality control, and package the labels for the marker.